Our top five 'feel-good' gifts for Father's Day

With Father's Day fast approaching (it's this Sunday btw... You're welcome), I thought it might be nice to do a little round-up of some of the more charitable pressesies you can get your Dad. Here's my top five, but if you spot others please add a comment at the bottom of this post.

1. Socks for Happy People:

C'mon! This wouldn't be a very good Father's Day Gift Guide if I didn't kick-off with socks! Socks for Happy People is a social enterprise which for every pair of funky, luxury socks you buy, gives away a pair of thick skin socks to the Christina Noble Children's Foundation for children in Mongolia.

Socks for Happy People retail at £15 and come in three different designs, each with four or five colour choices. The socks come in sizes 4-7 or 7-11 and are available in the following funky designs:

You can follow Socks for Happy People on Twitter or on Facebook.

2. Snow Leopard Vodka

2. Snow Leopard Vodka

15% of Snow Leopard Vodka's profits are given each year directly to community-based conservation projects through the Snow Leopard Trust. Is this the world's first ethical vodka? Bring it on, I say!

3. Green Rewards:

If you and your Dad are passionate about ethical consumerism then Green Rewards is the online shop for you. Everything they offer has been vetted and approved by their independent Sustainability Advisory Panel so you can be sure it's all genuine.

Although Green Rewards isn't a charity, they do also have a section dedicated to charity gifts here. Highlights include a £5 donation for planting 1sqm in a community garden in an urban setting, a £12 donation for Coral Cay conservation or up to £375 for a dedicated woodland for a UK city project.

4. Drayton Manor Theme Park and Zoo:

If you're looking for something a bit different, you can purchase an animal encounter for £30 and choose to meet a tiger, reindeer, meerkat, penguin or bunnies. You'll be able to feed and touch the animal you choose to meet... I'd probably pass on touching the tiger!

Alternatively, for £100 buy a keeper for the day experience and spend six hours working alongside them, meeting and learning about a variety of animals. 100% of the proceeds go to charity and whoever buys the experience can choose from the following:

World Owl Trust >
World Parrot Trust >
Borneo Orangutan Survival >
SCA - Society for Conservation in Aviculture >

For more information, please contact Kim Charlton on kimcharlton@draytonmanor.co.uk.

5. RNLi:

RNLi's virtual gifts allow you to choose products in a specific category to donate to the RNLi. In return, you get a gift card and certificate explaining the value of your gift and how it benefits RNLi crews, enabling them to continue saving lives at sea.
